

Rentokil

The Experts in Pest Control

Rentokil Intelligent Bird Scaring

An effective deterrent to protect your business from the nuisance of birds

Birds can pose a big threat to your business. Birds, such as gulls, geese and starlings, can spread disease with their droppings, damage buildings and equipment, create safety risks and give customers, staff and the general public a bad impression of your organisation.

Choosing the right course of action is essential. Nuisance birds can be removed effectively by using deterrents, but birds exhibit a wide range of smart behaviours and can adapt to new environments and conditions quickly. When birds realise that a certain sound poses no real threat, they can rapidly become habituated to it.

The solution? An intelligent scare device that deters birds without harm and prevents the risk of habituation.

Rentokil Intelligent Bird Scaring is an effective and sustainable device that's been designed to deter birds without harm. It can guard your organisation 24/7, minimise the risk of habituation and be controlled and monitored remotely via a tablet or smartphone app.

The device has an intelligent built-in system that recognises different bird species and identifies the best scare tool from a broad range to deter each of them. It can detect birds inside a radius of 250 metres and can alternate the order and intensity of the scare tools to prevent habituation.

In most cases this system will form part of an overall Bird Control solution which may include Bird of Prey flights or targeted proofing. The use of this unit, along with other options, can show that reasonable endeavours have been and are being made to control an existing bird issue on a site, as requested in current legislation.

- Humane solution

Innovative and effective audio technology means you can prevent bird nuisance without harming the birds

- Prevents habituation

Uses a large built-in library of species-specific calls, with the option of additional scare tools, to target and scare birds

- Tailored to your needs

Species of bird can be individually recognised and targeted with specific programmes to ensure your business is always protected

- Monitor remotely

Digital connection via a tablet or smartphone app means you can control and monitor with maximum efficiency, 24/7

- Environmentally friendly

The built-in battery can be recharged using an optional solar panel for better sustainability

- Safety and peace of mind

Remote monitoring means you can reduce the need for working at height to manage bird nuisance

Why Rentokil

For over 95 years, Rentokil has been the market leader in pest management in the UK. Our experts deliver an ongoing service that's both reliable and hassle-free, leaving you to focus on the operations of your business - safe in the knowledge that your pest control needs are being taken care of.

Rentokil
The Experts in Pest Control

For more information, please contact us

t 0808 304 4705

w rentokil.co.uk