A worry-free environment

We all worry about pests. The impact they can have on business and brand reputation can be devastating. Whatever your place in the food and beverage processing industry, Rentokil will work with you to ensure your premises are free of pests and their problems.

From raw material producers to transportation, from branded manufacturing to third party production, Rentokil works with some of the most important food and beverage processors in the world. As a result, we know how to protect your business and brand reputation from the potential damage caused by pest issues. Put simply, we stop pests before they risk your customers' safety.

Taking time to understand you

Our specialist High Dependency technical teams are experienced in the needs of the Food Processing industry. The service they provide is tailored to your individual requirements.

Food safety

- No contamination
- No infestation

Protecting your business and brand

- Identifying and managing the risks
- Regular monitoring and inspection
- Early identification of problems
- Rapid response

Conformance with audit requirements

- Up-to-date, accurate information
- Technical expertise
- Industry knowledge
- Historical data and trend analysis

We know the impact auditing can have on your business. Whatever your requirement – BRC, AIB, Soil Association or Marks & Spencer, our programmes are designed to support you through the pressures and complexity of the audit process.

“We know the impact auditing can have on your business.”

The technology to protect your business

We use the most advanced technology to ensure that your product is safe from contamination or infestation.

At our European Technical Centre we develop innovative solutions to complement the normal range of pest prevention products, providing you with a comprehensive and highly effective defence.

Rentokil Mouse Radar

Radar uses CO<sub>2</sub> for quick, effective trapping and eradication of rodents, giving you complete peace-of-mind:

- 24 hr monitoring and eradication
- Infestations stopped before they take hold
- No cross-contamination from poisons
- Hygienic isolation of rodents prior to removal

Luminos

Our Luminos range of electronic fly control units attract insects and safely encapsulate them, removing the risk of contamination.

- Effective control of flying insects
- No contamination risk from debris

Monitoring

To deal with other insects and rodents we have a range of specially developed monitoring units that allow easy inspection and rapid identification of potential problems.

- Exclusive technology
- 24 hr monitoring

PestNetOnline

Our market-leading PestNetOnline reporting system is designed to support your audit requirements. Capturing and tracking service reports and recommendations in real time, PestNetOnline gives constant analysis of trends across single or multiple sites.

- Information that is up-to-date and available 24/7
- Easy and secure access
- Customised user reporting

Programmes developed for you

We don't have a one-size fits all approach to pest control. We know that each and every food and beverage processor has its own specific requirements. We develop all of our pest control programmes for you, together with you, to meet the particular needs of your business.

Our Standard Programme

- Regular, structured and scheduled visits
- Unlimited call-outs in case of problems
- Emergency response within 24 hrs
- Use of the latest technology
- Low and non-toxic products
- Detailed reporting with recommendations and advice

Individual Account Management

Your team of experts will have an in-depth understanding of the food and beverage industries:

- Knowledge of the relevant audit standards
- Trained in food hygiene regulations
- Experienced in identifying risks
- Access to specialist services

Complete Audit Support

We design our programmes to ensure that together we get through all audits with the minimum of issues. We can provide:
